Tragedy Occurred in Front of 2923
Morgan Street—Victim Was Mentally Unbalanced. Board of Public Improvements Asked to Report at Once Those Lines
Not Using Prescribed Safe-
Guards.

Mrs. T. E. Allen, wife of Dr. Allen of 2923
Morgan street, committed suicide at 5:30 o'clock Saturday morning by throwing herself in front of a street car opposite her home, while insane through illness.

Mrs. Allen broke away from her attendants and ran into the street, falling headlong across the track just in front of an eastbound car of the Easton avenue division.

Her skull was crushed. The body was picked up and carried into the house. Dr.
Allen said that his wife was dead when he reached her.

Several months ago Mrs. Allen, who had reached the age of 43 years, suffered from fever. Since then she has been under the constant care of physicians and attendants.

"She was undoubtedly insane," said Dr.
Allen to the Post-Dispatch, and the motion was made to get away from her. He said that he was not a physician, but a dentist, and that he was not a Chicago specialist had been attending her.

"We kept close watch on her, as she had evinced a tendency to nervousness, and the house whenever she could. Her mind had been affected for the past two months."

Dr. Allen is a specialist in nervous diseases, and conducts a sanitarium at his residence.

Condition Became

Worse Friday

Mrs. Charles E. Miller of Grinnell, Ia., a sister of Mrs. Allen, has been attending the afflicted woman for four weeks. Mrs.
Miller says that her sister's condition
became worse Friday, when she ran upstairs and hid behind a door. In the evening she retired early. Mrs. Miller slept with her.

"She slept well during the early part of the night," said Mrs. Miller, "but I got little sleep, and therefore, was very sleepy this morning. My sister arose shortly after 6 o'clock and told me to get her ready for her heavy clothing, as it seemed chilly."

I dozed off, and when I awoke shortly afterward she was not in the room. Then I heard the servant girl screaming out in front."

Rosa Steinhammer, the domestic, saw
Mrs. Allen leave the house at the back door, and walked around to the front. She saw her dressing, noticed his wife pass the window and carried the girl to death her.

The girl ran to the front stoop and caught
Mrs. Allen, who broke away and ran directly into the street, where she flung herself under the wheels of the car.

Dr. and Mrs. Allen came to St. Louis two years ago from Providence, R. I. Mrs. Allen, whose maiden name was Emma Elizabeth Row, was born in Belleville, Province of Ontario, Canada.

FOUND HIS MISSING SON

E. A. Graham of East St. Louis Secured
Tidings Through a Wandering Railroad Man.

James McGuire of Cairo, Ill., a railroad man, was the means of bringing about the reunion of a father and son who had been separated 23 years.

McGuire entered the office of the Murphy Car Roofing Co., in East St. Louis, in search of employment and while there met E. A. Graham, an employe.

"Are you a relative of Dennis Graham of Port Morris, N. J.?" asked McGuire.

"Well, that is the name of my son, whom I have not seen for many years. I know nothing of his whereabouts," was the reply.

Inquiry established the fact that the New Jersey Graham was indeed the long-lost son, and the old man was almost beside himself with joy. Dennis is now 27 years old and a conductor on the D. & W.
Railroad. McGuire was his brakeman until a few months ago, when he lost his position and worked his way to East St. Louis.

The father immediately sent a telegram to his son, who read as follows: "My Dear Boy—Come home to your heartbroken father, who has been searching for you for 23 years. E. A. Graham."
The same afternoon he received this answer:

"My Dear Father—Will be there with wife and baby Saturday. Dennis."
Extensive preparations for the reunion
are in progress at the Graham home, 11 South Fourth street, East St. Louis. The Grahams are 50 years old and formerly lived at Quincy, Ill. He said to the Post-Dispatch:

"At the death of my wife, March 22, 1878, gave Dennis, then 2 years old, to my father-in-law, Dennis McConnell of New York, to raise. The child was named after him. Mr. McConnell died 12 years ago and I had heard nothing from my boy since.
All letters written to him were returned."
McGuire informed him that his son had been left an estate of $10,000 by his grandfather and was in comfortable circumstances.

PRESENT DEVICES DEFECTIVE

CAR COMPANIES WILL BE MADE TO OBSERVE THE LAW.

Board of Public Improvements Asked
to Report at Once Those Lines
Not Using Prescribed Safe-
Guards.

Following the stand taken by President
Hiram Phillips of the Board of Public Improvements on the subject of defective street car fenders in an interview in the Post-Dispatch Friday, the City Council passed resolutions demanding a searching inquiry.

The resolutions, which were introduced by Mr. Gibson, one of the new members, request from the Board of Public Improvements a statement as to whether the fender
now in use are legal.

A large portion of these devices, on numberless occasions have proved ineffective, have not been approved by the board, as the law requires, then the Council desires information upon which the city can proceed against the street railway companies.

Some very pointed speeches on the subject of poor fenders were made by Messrs.
Horton, Hodges and others, on motion of Mr. Horton, seconded by Mr. Meyers-burg, the resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Mr. Gibson said, among other things:
"The fender of a street car is a device which during the past year one person has been killed every five days by the street cars. A large portion of these devices are not in use are legal."

"I do not know how many accidents have been caused by the use of improper fenders,
but there must have been hundreds."

High Speed With

Antiquated Fenders.

"With perfect fenders, the running of street cars is of itself from 15 to 20 miles an hour, would be exceedingly dangerous,
when in the great speed is added the fact that the cars are nearly all equipped with inefficient and antiquated fenders, or none at all, the chances become most dangerous."

"Some of the so-called fenders are nothing more than death traps. I believe the laws of the city cover this point, and that they should be enforced to the letter. It is within our scope to compel the companies to use fenders that will save lives. But before anything can be done it is necessary to know to what extent, if any, the law has been violated by the use of the present fenders."

Capt. Hodges said: "While many accidents have been caused by the use of inefficient fenders, there are other causes, especially too high rate of speed maintained."
The speaker then believed in indicting the moti-orman, who has orders to run on a fast time, and not the fender, which is the device which is the cause of the accident.

The man who issues and detaches
those orders is the man who should be arrested and indicted, and the fender should be made to conform to the law.

President Phillips will submit to the Council a mass of statistics on the subject of the fender, car fenders and casualties. An ordinance, designed to remedy the evil, may be submitted at the same time.

POST-DISPATCH CAMERA STORIES OF ST. LOUIS

THE NEW EDWARD WYMAN SCHOOL.

Photographed by the Post-Dispatch.

The new Edward Wyman School, now being completed at St. Vincent and Theresa avenues, with its towers and turrets looks like a castle.

It is such a building as the "Earl of Compton Heights" might have built in the good old days "When Knighthood was in flower" and chivalry was with its fingers and never employed a chirographist.

The school is a building of the future, and the building are designed simply as air ducts, and are not intended to show the young readers of Ivanhoe how Rebecca lived in her prison tower.

Fresh air is sucked through these towers, the heating plant in the basement, and then sent to ventilate the school rooms. In this way the air in each room is changed entirely every eight minutes.

The Edward Wyman School will be ready for use Sept. 1. It was built at a cost of $125,000, has 18 class rooms, a kindergarten and library.

It is expected that the principal for the new school will be selected Tuesday.

EASTON OWL CAR
MADE MAD RUN
WOMAN FENCED
ROBBER'S PISTOL

It Terrified Both Passengers
and Pedestrians. Negro Burglar Threatened to Kill Mrs. Dr. Chase.

STRUCK TWO MEN AND WAGON SHE SAVED HER DIAMONDS

WHEN POLICE STOPPED IT MOTOR-
MAN WAS REELING. HER FEIGNED FRIGHT MISLED
THE MIDNIGHT INTRUDER.

He Was Locked Up at Car Street Station to Await Investigation Into Condition, Ordered by Capt. Boyd.

The last owl car of the Easton avenue
Saturday morning caused great excitement
as it proceeded as far west as Eighteenth street and Franklin avenue at 5 o'clock.
The car carried several belated passengers.

The motorman, it is alleged by witnesses, paid no heed to signals, did not slow up for crossings and obstructions were run down.
At Ninth street and Franklin avenue a fruit vendor carried a large basket, filled with lemons, on his shoulder. He was on his way to his stand.

When he was crossing Franklin avenue
the car struck him.

He was knocked down and the lemons
were scattered over the street.

The vendor arose and saw the car speeding rapidly west on Franklin avenue.

Between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets, Charles Hohmann, a paper carrier,
and Lockwood, a class avenue, were driving with a load of newspapers.

He was on the streetcar track. He says the car did not ring and that the car did not diminish its speed.

It struck his wagon and tossed it to one side.

By this time the police had received word of the deed of the car and Sergeant Nolte of the Central and Policeman Kenney of the Fourth district were informed to look out for it.

They caught it at Eighteenth street and Franklin avenue and boarded it.

It was No. 97 of the Easton avenue line
and was in charge of Motorman William Bloomer of 2723 Easton street. The moti-orman of Edward Nagel of 2600 North Taylor avenue.

Motorman Reeled
at His Post.

According to Sergeant Nolte's report, when he boarded the car, the motorman was reeling as he stood on the platform, and made a feeble effort to perform the responsible duty entrusted to him.

The police ordered Bloomer to turn off his current.

The car was stopped, and the passengers declared it was a relief for them when they felt they could step from the car without risking life or limb.

Sergeant Nolte ordered Patrolman Kenney to protect the motorman as a prisoner. The sergeant asked Conductor Nagel to proceed, but he could not do so, as one of the rules of the company is that under no circumstances must the conductor act as a motorman.

Sergeant Nolte then called up the carshed
at Easton avenue. He informed the foreman what had occurred and a special car with an extra motorman was sent to the scene.

Conductor Nagel said that he did not know anything about Bloomer's condition.
The car under the control of a new moti-orman proceeded on its way.

The police report gives the following as witnesses:

Charles Rising, 320 North Sixteenth street; John Leinester, 1208 North High street; Frank Clay, 1068 Carr street;
Thomas Flaherty, 200 Franklin avenue;
Mrs. Mary Hawkins, 1214 Franklin avenue, and Henry Estlund, 922 North Taylor avenue.

Bloomer was held at the Carr Street Police station, where he was held for an investigation made by Capt. Boyd.

Other Accidents Caused
by the Street Cars.

The following reports were received at police headquarters Saturday morning concerning street car accidents:

August W. Lender of 2112 South Eleventh street, a driver for the Wainwright transport, while driving on Morgan street, between Broadway and Sixth street, at 2:50
o'clock Friday night, was struck by car
No. 2422 of the Easton avenue line. He was thrown from the car and the wheels of the vehicle passed over him. His left ankle, right leg and back were painfully wounded. He was taken to his home in an ambulance.

William Repohl of 3135 California avenue
was thrown from the steps of a Pullman car at 1812 South Broadway at 2:15 o'clock Friday night. He received several scalp wounds. Repohl says the conductor gave the signal to go ahead and that the car gave a jerk, throwing him to the street.

The largest creditor is Bradford Shinkle,
described as a capitalist of Covington, Ky., to whom Mr. Gibson confesses an indebtedness of $3,000. There are other creditors from Covington.

The petition filed by Attorney Albert H.
Engel does not identify Mr. Gibson anymore definitely than to state that he is a resident of St. Louis, but in one paragraph of the summary explains that he is a petitioner who has no account books, it is stated that those he kept while in the real estate business in St. Louis were later lost in Cin-

SOCIETY WOMEN KEPT THE COUNT FEAR SMALLPOX OUT OF CHURCH

Alton Social Leaders Met
Patient in Car.

HER NAME IS VICTORIA M'COY
SHE IS STILL AT LARGE IN ALTON.

After She Was Quarantined, She Escaped and Boarded Car Which Carried Guests at Mrs. William Smith's Reception.

Suffering from smallpox in its worst form, Victoria McCoy, a girl, is supposed to be at large in Alton, Ill., and several of the city's best-known society women who rode two miles in a street car with her Friday afternoon are in dread of the disease.

Friday afternoon the girl called at the office of Dr. L. M. Bowman on East Second street in Alton. She told the doctor she was sick and wanted treatment.

"As soon as she stepped in my office," said the doctor, "I saw she had smallpox. Upon examination, I found that she was in the most virulent stage of the disease. Dr. Bowman communicated with the health authorities at once.

The girl said that she had been living in the home of William Spinner, a truck gardener, who cultivates a small farm north of Upper Alton.

She was taken back to the Spinner farmhouse and the place was quarantined.

An hour later the girl, apparently in delirium, escaped from the house.

She boarded a trolley car filled with women from Alton, who had been attending an afternoon reception at the country residence of Mrs. William Elliot Smith, wife of the president of the Illinois Glass Co., between Alton and Upper Alton.

Society Women Rode
With the Diseased Girl.

Some of the passengers observed a girl in the car with peculiar marks on her face.

Later, when the health authorities began searching for Victoria McCoy, the women identified the street car passenger as the patient.

When they learned they had ridden two miles in a car with a smallpox patient, they became greatly alarmed.

There is a rush for vaccination in Alton Saturday.

James Ward, a farmhand, working for Spinner, and living at the latter's house, also has smallpox.

Dr. T. P. Yerkes of Upper Alton diagnosed his case. Ward ran away from the house when he learned the nature of his disease. He was captured Friday evening in Upper Alton and taken back.

During the afternoon Spinner started to leave the premises in a wagon loaded with garden truck, which he intended to peddle from house to house in Alton.

He was caught before he had proceeded far and sent back, with strict orders to remain in the house.

Constable Low of Upper Alton is now standing guard at the Spinner house with a shotgun, to see that no one leaves the place.

Meantime the police and health officials of Alton and Upper Alton are diligently, though with much skepticism, searching for Victoria McCoy, who is supposed to have taken refuge with some friends to whom the nature of her ailment is not known.

There is considerable excitement in the city, and many timid folk decline to venture out on the streets.

A bench warrant was issued Friday.

ARRESTED CONFIDENCE MEN.
Chicago Police Gathered in 25 of Them in One Blind Poolroom.

CHICAGO, June 8.—In a small room at the rear of a saloon on Cottage avenue, fitted with a mass of telegraph wires and instruments and all the equipments of a first-class poolroom, Chicago detectives arrested 25 men last night and unearthed what they say was the headquarters for a gang of the most noted confidence men in this country. They were all taken to the police station, where they were booked on charges of conspiracy to defraud. The complainant, who will appear against them, is S. L. Seabrook, a traveling man who alleges he came near being the victim of a swindle involving several thousand dollars.

Seabrook himself assisted the police in making the raid. It was but a short time after the men reached police headquarters before many of the prisoners were recognized. The commanding officers realized the importance of the arrests. Among those arrested in the raid are Frank D. Dole, Edward Dunne and Archie Donaldson.

From the appearance of the place a poolroom in full blast was in progress. The names of horses running at the different tracks with their odds were conspicuously posted on the walls. Dice machines were being operated and the continuous click of telegraph instruments was drowned by the calling of the progress of the different races by the "official announcer."

Cyclone in Oklahoma.
WICHITA, Kan., June 8.—Near Billings, Oklahoma, a cyclone occurred last night. Many buildings were blown down and it is reported that several lives were lost. Fires are down and particulars are meager.

GEOHEGAN AND GREENWOOD.
"Geehegan," says Greenwood to me, "I have one for you."

"What is it?" says I.

"It's about this fellow Dowie, that's had the surprising presumption to set himself up as a prophet of the great and holy prophet Elijah. Now there's one difference between Dowie and Elijah, begging the latter gentleman's pardon for the use of his name in this connection."

"And what's that?" says I.

"It's this," says Greenwood: "Elijah was bald and got old, whereas Dowie was called and got bald."

"What of that?" says I.

"It's a joke," says he.

"O, is it?" says I.

In consequence of which Greenwood didn't speak to me for three weeks, except on my parting on the way.

After diplomatic relations had been re-opened, he said to me:

"What do you want—history, philosophy, fiction or law?" asked the bookseller.

"I don't know," I answered. "I just want the attorney, who was already on the way for the door."

He had reached the pavement when he turned and hurried back.

"Say," he shouted, "be sure and have them all bound alike. I want that library to look right."

"I'll fix it," said the bookseller.

summed, as the correspondents say in the news they get from a high official source, Greenwood showed up one night with a face that was in the main distorted, seeing that there was a blue spot under one eye and a red lump over the other. The right arm of him was in a sling made out of a red bandanna.

"Where did you get the colored cover?" says I.

"It's no joke," says he. "I think I've found it."

"It's a tragedy," says I.

"How did it happen?" says I.

"I'm not telling my troubles to the likes of you," says he.

I could see that his anger was rising, but I was not white afraid of him, his right arm being as useless as the fender of a street car, and he was not broken. Sorry, I'm hurt," says he, "badly hurt. There's not a whole bone in me, barring the ones that were not broken. Sorry, I'm hurt."

"Did what?" says I.

"Nothing," says he.

"That's all you've done since I knew you," says I.

"Have a care, Geehegan," says he; "the power is still in my left arm."

"Oh, you have a little left," says I.

"It'd be big enough on the point of your jaw," says he.

"Don't try it," says I; "but, Greenwood, as one that loves you for the good you might do if you were working, tell me what's happened."

"Who—the cattle?" says I.

"No," says he; "this is the way it was. I stood on the corner of Prairie and Garfield avenues and called with the top of my voice: 'Riley! Riley!'"

"Sure, that didn't give you a black eye," says I.

"No, Geehegan, it didn't," says he, "but there was 1089 Rileys responded to the call. They came so fast I couldn't get out of the way and they all came."

There was something of a pause, at the end of which I said:

"What is it?" says he.

"You've been a right if you'd called for Riley," says I. Which play on the spelling of a bit of a word explains the

MRS. MCKINLEY HEART AFFECTED

It Is the Direct Result of a Bone Felon.

SHE PASSED AN EASY NIGHT
PHYSICIANS' BULLETIN PRESENTS A CHEERFUL VIEW.

The Disease Is Pronounced Not Progressive and General Improvement Is Noted.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Mrs. McKinley's physicians have issued the following bulletin:

"Mrs. McKinley's illness has been a blood infection, resulting from pericostitis of the index finger (bone felon), which began in Los Angeles, and which was promptly treated by incision.

"The subsequent condition of exhaustion was due to the same blood infection, aggravated with a severe diarrhea. She improved, however, and was brought home in comfort without loss of strength.

"The principal cause of anxiety in her case since her arrival in Washington has been acute endocarditis (inflammation of the lining membrane of the heart), involving the mitral valve, the result of the same blood infection.

"This does not appear to be progressive, and there has been an improvement in the diarrhea and in her general condition. Mrs. McKinley's case at the present time presents a most cheerful aspect.

"Dr. Rixey spent three-quarters of an hour at the White House this morning. He reported that Mrs. McKinley passed a fairly comfortable night.

"The physicians' physicians were in consultation about two hours today and subsequently a very complete statement of the true character of the illness from which she has been suffering was issued. Such a statement has been promised from time to time and while in San Francisco it was said that the President desired a fuller announcement of the nature of Mrs. McKinley's illness given to the public. But, for one reason or another, it has been withheld up to the present time.

"The statement that Mrs. McKinley's case this time presents a more hopeful aspect is the best word that has come from the sickroom since the arrival of the distinguished patient in Washington. President feels considerably encouraged. Today was Mrs. McKinley's birthday and many beautiful flowers and gifts were left at the White House for her."

APPEAL TO THE HAGUE

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The United States government has again appealed to the powers to submit the present issues at Pekin over the indemnity propositions to the arbitration of The Hague tribunal.

Mr. Rockwell, who has been waiting for an opportunity, called Secretary Hay last night for permission to make a proposition to the powers to submit the present issues at Pekin over the indemnity propositions to the arbitration of The Hague tribunal.

It is believed that the ministers at Peking have become involved beyond extrication in the present issues, and this proposition may be the only way out.

RECS WOUNDED IN FRENCH DUEL

Sword Play Lasted an Entire Afternoon.

WAS RESUMED IN THE MORNING

M. LABERDESQUE'S HONOR WAS SATISFIED.

PARIS, June 8.—The duel with swords which was begun yesterday in the Parc des Princes between Max Regis (the anti-Semite mayor of Algiers) and M. Laberdesque, an Algerian journalist, and which was adjourned, after 19 fruitless rounds had been fought, was resumed this morning.

M. Regis was seriously wounded in the forearm, a copious flow of blood resulting, but the duel was thereafter stopped.

The seconds, however, subsequently became involved in a lively altercation which will possibly lead to another duel.

The trouble arose from anti-Jewish politics. The crowd at first numbered 150 persons, but as soon as the news of the fight spread, hundreds of persons gathered to see the show. Both men are expert fencers. The rounds lasted three minutes, with two minutes' interval.

The heat compelled the adjournment of the morning. Friday forenoon the duel from the Vendome induced the spectators to disperse quietly.

The duel today lasted only a few seconds. M. Laberdesque, who is a fine swordsman, yesterday confined himself to the defense, but this morning, after half a dozen passes, he lunged and pricked M. Regis in the right arm. M. Laberdesque then refused to see the duel, but the seconds refused to let the fight continue.

A quarrel then broke out among the seconds and several spectators, who included the well-known fencers, Malato, Thomeux, Sultzbacher and others.

Several challenges were made, and finally M. Laberdesque, who was furious over the decision, shouted to M. Laberdesque:

"I fought you to show I was not afraid of your sword. You are nevertheless, an assassin."

M. Laberdesque promptly retorted, asking the seconds to arrange another duel.

Two other duels are also promised in connection with the affair, one between Malato and a journalist named Leroy, and the other between M. Laberdesque and M. Brescher, a journalist named Gaudier.

UNGER CASE IS DELAYED.

Illness of an Attorney Causes an Adjournment.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The Unger conspiracy case was brought to a sudden temporary stop shortly after court opened today, by the illness of J. J. McDannold, attorney for Dr. Unger. McDannold fainted in the midst of his speech yesterday, but appeared in court today. He attempted to talk, but failed pitifully. A physician who was summoned declared that the lawyer would not live ten minutes if he attempted to address the jury, and Judge Tauey accordingly declared court adjourned till Monday, when an attempt will be made to finish the argument and give the case to the jury.

Former Deputy Coroner John Wecker, who has an alias "Bake" and who over the body of Miss Defenbach, says the girl's death appeared to have been a natural one, and that in order not to delay his trial, he took the part of jury himself, and substituted names out of his own head to fill up his report. He said he left Chicago when the trial began because he had been told his testimony would not be needed by the state.
